

The curious Mister Catesby: a “truly ingenious” naturalist explores new worlds

A comprehensive and lavishly illustrated new study of the man and his work, with over 185 color illustrations, to be published by
The University of Georgia Press early in 2015

To reserve a copy or for more information, please contact Janice Stanley at stellayaris@gmail.com
See also www.catesbytrust.org

Table of Contents and Author List –

Foreword

Introduction

Catesby Chronology

“The truly honest, ingenious, and modest Mr. Mark Catesby, F. R. S.” – documenting his life

Dr. E. Charles Nelson (FLS: Freelance editor & author, Wisbech, United Kingdom)

Behind the scenes: Catesby, the man, viewed through the lens of a camera

Cynthia P. Neal (Film producer/director, Nashville, TN)

Mark Catesby’s botanical forerunners in Virginia

Dr. Karen Reeds (Independent scholar, Princeton, NJ)

Maria Sibylla Merian (1647-1717): pioneering naturalist, artist, and inspiration for Catesby

Dr. Kay Etheridge (Professor of Biology, Gettysburg College, PA); and

Dr. Florence F. J. M. Pieters (Guest researcher, Artis Library, University of Amsterdam, the Netherlands)

William Dampier (1651-1715): the pirate of exquisite mind

Diana & Michael Preston (Historians and writers, London, United Kingdom)

John Lawson’s A new voyage to Carolina and his “Compleat History”: the Mark Catesby connection

Dr. Marcus B. Simpson, Jr. (Vice Chair - retired, Dept. of Pathology, Wake Forest University School of Medicine, Winston-Salem, NC)

Mark Catesby’s world: England

Dr. Janet Browne (Professor of the History of Science, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA)

Mark Catesby's world: Virginia

Dr. Sarah Meacham (Associate Professor of History, Virginia Commonwealth University, Richmond, VA)

Mark Catesby's Carolina Adventure

Dr. Suzanne Linder Hurley (Historian and author, Davidson, NC)

Mark Catesby's Bahamian natural history (observed in 1725-1726)

Dr. Robert Robertson (Emeritus Curator/Malacology, Academy of Natural Sciences, Drexel University, Philadelphia, PA)

Mark Catesby's preparatory drawings for The natural history of Carolina, Florida and the Bahama islands

Henrietta McBurney (Formerly Curator of Prints and Drawings, Royal Library, Windsor Castle, United Kingdom)

The publication of Mark Catesby's The natural history of Carolina, Florida and the Bahama islands

Leslie K. Overstreet (Curator, Natural History Rare Books, Smithsonian Libraries, Washington, DC)

The plant collections of Mark Catesby in Oxford

Dr. Stephen A. Harris (Druce Curator of the Oxford University Herbaria, Oxford, United Kingdom)

Carl Linnaeus and the influence of Mark Catesby's botanical work

Dr. Charles E. Jarvis (Department of Life Sciences, Natural History Museum, London, United Kingdom)

The economic botany and ethnobotany of Mark Catesby

Dr. Hardy Eshbaugh (Emeritus Professor of Botany, Miami University, Oxford, OH)

"Of birds of passage": Mark Catesby and contemporary theories on bird migration and torpor

Dr. Shepard Krech III (Emeritus Professor of Anthropology, Brown University, Providence, RI)

Catesby's animals (other than birds) in The natural history of Carolina, Florida and the Bahama islands

Dr. Aaron M. Bauer (Professor of Integrative Biology, Villanova University, Villanova, PA)

Catesby's fundamental contributions to Linnaeus's binomial catalog of North American animals

Dr. Kraig Adler (Professor of Biology and formerly Vice Provost, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY)

Mark Catesby's plant introductions and English gardens of the eighteenth century

Mark Laird (Adjunct Professor of the History of Landscape Architecture, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA)

Following in the footsteps of Mark Catesby

Judith Magee (Library Collections Development Manager, Natural History Museum, London, United Kingdom)

Inspiration from The natural history of Carolina...by Mark Catesby

Sir Ghillean T. Prance (FRS: Retired Director of the Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew, United Kingdom)

Conclusions: The Account, Appendix, Hortus and other endings among Mark Catesby's work

David J. Elliott (FLS: Executive Director, Catesby Commemorative Trust, Charleston, SC)

APPENDIX: Identification of the plants and animals illustrated by Mark Catesby for The natural history of Carolina, Florida and the Bahama islands

Dr. James L. Reveal (Adjunct Professor of Plant Biology, Cornell University, NY)

Notes to chapters and authors' acknowledgements

A bibliography for Mark Catesby

Contributors

Indices